"The First World War . . . was nothing less than the greatest error of modern history.”
— Ferguson, The Pity of War, p. 462.

"The Second World War is the largest single event in human history, fought across six of the world’s seven continents and all its oceans. It killed fifty million human beings, left hundreds of millions of others wounded in mind or body, and materially devastated much of the heartland of civilisation."
— Keegan, The Second World War, p. 5.

“Practical men, who believe themselves to be quite exempt from any intellectual influences, are usually the slaves of some defunct economist. Madmen in authority, who hear voices in the air, are distilling their frenzy from some academic scribbler of a few years back.”

— Keynes, The General Theory of Employment, Interest and Money
This Seminar: What it is and is not. The subject matter covers both history and economics, but it is in no way an introductory course to the history of Europe nor an introduction to Economics. Despite its title, "Did Economics Win the Two World Wars?" this seminar is as much about the political and military history of the two wars as about their economics.

Prequisites and Advance Knowledge. There are no prerequisites for this seminar. Nobody is expected to know anything in advance about European history or about economics. We are all here to learn together, from the readings, from class discussions, and from writing papers. While some people may know more than others at the beginning of the class, others may be better writers. It is the quality of your papers and classroom discussion that matters, not how much you know on the first day of class.

The two world wars were the pivotal events of the twentieth century. These topics cover a substantial period of years, relate to many countries, and involve topics upon which thousands of books have been written. Our goal is to read enough general historical commentary to comprehend the main events and the issues that are subject to debate, and to develop critical skills by pulling apart the conflicting arguments, discussing them in class, and writing papers about them. This course is about the big issues; it is not about dates or facts.

Reading

Do not be intimidated by the large amount of information and book references in this syllabus. A lot of reading items have been made available to you as a resource when you write your papers, but only a minority of the items are required reading. There are two sources of reading. These are (1) two required books that you must purchase, and (2) selected items on library electronic “Course Reserve” accessed through Canvas.

There are two required purchase books. (1) Richard Overy, Why the Allies Won, Norton paperback, 1995 and (2) Ian Kershaw, Fateful Choices: Ten Decisions that Changed the World, 1940-41. Penguin, 2007. These books are about World War II and are used only in the second half of the course. Please note: Because these books are widely available new or used on the internet, they are not stocked by the Norris or Beck’s bookstores. You are responsible for obtaining them on your own from any web source you prefer. Be sure to have both books in hand by February 2.
Except for these two books, the NU library provides all of the required reading material online through a Canvas link to electronic library resources (details below about how to access). You will be able to read all of the course readings from your own computer or any computer on campus.

Beyond the articles and book chapters listed below on the reading list, additional optional books are available in the library to help you in writing your papers. You will be able to write your first paper entirely from the books and articles on course reserve and will not need to visit the library until writing your second or third paper.

Writing

There are no quizzes or exams in this Seminar. Your grade will depend 70 percent on the quality of your written work, and 30 percent on your class participation. There will be four writing assignments, three short papers of 4 or 5 pages, and one longer paper due at the end of the quarter of more substantial length, roughly 12 to 15 pages. There will be no choice in the topic of the first paper, but an increasing amount of choice on the next two short papers. There will be unlimited latitude for choice of topic for the longer paper, as long as it has something to do with World War II.

For the first three papers, we will use a technique called "peer editing" which is encouraged by WCAS. Pairs of students will exchange the first draft of a paper by e-mail the night before the first draft is due; each pair of students will bring a print-out of both papers to class with comments. Students will exchange comments in the last 15 minutes of the designated class. Then the final version of the paper will be turned in for a grade to me at the subsequent class.

WCAS awards prizes for the four best papers written in Freshman Seminars during this academic year. Winning such a prize would look very good on your future resume and in any graduate school application. I encourage you to do your best, and I will nominate the two best papers submitted during the quarter. Four of my students have won the freshman writing prize in the past, including one in Winter 2019, so there is ample precedent for thinking that you could also win.
Class Rules and Procedures

Attendance is required at every class. 30 percent of your grade will depend on the quality of your class participation. If you have a legitimate excuse for missing a class, especially any medical or health problem, send me an e-mail to let me know in advance of the class you must miss. Unexcused absences will reduce your score on classroom participation.

The focus of class discussion will be on pre-assigned discussion questions. What does the grade for classroom participation involve? You want to emerge from your freshman year not only as a good writer, but as an effective participant in a group meeting, a role that you will play many times in future life, starting in college activities. Effective classroom participation means learning to speak confidently, concisely and persuasively; not to bury your head in your notes. Most important, I will be looking for comments, interruptions, and questions by all students. The more you raise your hand to say something relevant, the better.

Your grade in the course will be lower than your grade on the papers if you are silent during the class sessions. What if you have nothing to say? EASY! Just ask questions to those students who are speaking and to me. “Why did Mr. A do Action B?” “What actually happened after event A that caused event B?”

Policy on Laptops. Laptops are absolutely prohibited from this class, because any student with a laptop open is looking at a screen, not participating in the discussion and not focusing his/her attention on the student who is speaking. You are expected to prepare your classroom discussions before class and print out any notes you wish to bring to class (and/or bring handwritten notes). Any number of printouts can be brought to class but no laptops. An easy way to keep track of what you want to say about discussion questions is to scribble a few main points on the hard-copy sheets that will be distributed for all the discussion questions.

If you have questions or comments about any aspect of the course, send me an e-mail and if your question is of general interest, I will forward your question and my answer to the other students. If you have a personal problem or question, make that clear in your e-mail and I will of course treat it as confidential. The easiest way to talk to me is just to remain after class, since I can stay after class as long as you want. Also, you can come to my regular office hours or make an appointment to see me in my office at another time (or via Zoom appointment).

The class schedule lists specified deadlines for submission of final drafts of papers. The “peer editing” system automatically creates an incentive for you to have your first draft ready several days before the final draft is due.

Papers will be submitted via Canvas; I will read them on my screen and return them to you with my comments added. Every paper must have a title page with the paper’s title and your name, and pages must be numbered, starting with the first page of text as “Page 1”. You can insert page numbers by themselves or embed page numbers in a header.

This syllabus is required to include the following statement: Students are expected to adhere to basic principles of academic integrity as outlined in the booklet: “Academic Integrity at Northwestern: A Basic Guide.” As all papers are submitted electronically, any are subject to being tested for plagiarized content.
AVAILABLE READING BY TOPIC

Notes: each item is numbered by topic and item. “WX” means that this item is available through online Course Reserve and is listed under week “X”, e.g., “W1” for “week 1”.

To find electronic reserve items grouped by week, as in “W1” = “week 1”, go to this course in Canvas, click on the left tab “Course Reserves.” This will give an overall list of all the items on course reserve (many of which are not required reading). Along the top bar you will find a list of weeks; click on “Week 1”. This will give you the list of items designated by “W1” on the list of readings below. To the left of the item title you will see an underlined “View Item.” The item will then download -- scroll below the copyright page and your item will be there, ready to read by scrolling down.

() indicates that all students are expected to read this item. (+) indicates that the reading is not required reading by every student. Instead, starting with readings in weeks 3 and 4, students are given an option of alternative paper topics and only need to read the items related to their chosen paper topic. The selection of the () vs. the (+) items is guided by a desire to keep your reading down to roughly four book chapters per week. The items to be read by students doing a particular topic are viewable on Course Reserve in groups such as “Week 5 for Some Students.” On the syllabus below these are abbreviated W5fSS.

1. Overview of the Century

   Excerpts Ch. 1, "By Way of Introduction," pp. 3-10; pp. 25-30.

2. Causes and Consequences of World War I

*A. "Attempted Suicide," The Economist, December 31, 1999, pp. 31-32 (W2)

*C. "Why Germany made it global," Economist, May 12, 2001. (W2)

3. The Role of Economics in World War I and its Aftermath

+B. Gerd Hardach, First World War 1914-18. University of California Press,
1977, Ch. 1-2, 5. (W4fSS)

4. Economic and Political Aftermath of World War I and the Origins of World War II

+B. Ferguson, Chapter 14, “How Not to Pay for the War.” (W5)

5. World War II: Strategic Dilemmas and Why the Allies Won (Military Issues)

*A. Richard Overy, Why the Allies Won, Norton, 1995, Chapters 1 and 10 (Required for purchase)

+B. Ian Kershaw, Fateful Choices: Ten Decisions that Changed the World, 1940-41. Penguin, 2007 (Required for purchase). Each student is required to read sections about two of the five countries from the pages listed below.

UK, pp. 20-53.
Germany, pp. 54-71.
USSR, pp. 263-97.
US, pp. 298-319.
Japan, pp. 331-74 and pp. 360-66.

+C. Students should also read the chapters from Keegan’s World War II on the same two countries they have chosen from Kershaw. (W7)

Ch. 6, Hitler’s Strategic Dilemma, pp. 127-41
Ch. 12, Tojo’s Strategic Dilemma, pp. 240-50
Ch. 17, Churchill’s Strategic Dilemma, pp. 310-19
Ch. 24, Stalin’s Strategic Dilemma, pp. 450-57
Ch. 29, Roosevelt’s Strategic Dilemma, pp. 536-45.

6. The Role of Economics in World War II

A. Overy, Chapter 6 (required purchase).

Other Sources, Useful for Papers (All of these books are in the library about none of them is required. Consider them as a helpful resource if and when you need any of them)

Ian W. Toll, Pacific Crucible, Norton, 2011. (This is about the first six months of the Pacific war in 1941-42).

ECONOMICS 101-6

LIST OF TOPICS AND ASSIGNMENTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Day</th>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Topic</th>
<th>Assignments</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>M</td>
<td>03 Jan</td>
<td>Student Introductions, Course Introduction</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W</td>
<td>05 Jan</td>
<td>Role of the Wars in the Century; World in 1901</td>
<td>1A-1C</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M</td>
<td>10 Jan</td>
<td>Causes of World War I</td>
<td>2A-2H</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W</td>
<td>12 Jan</td>
<td>More on Causes of World War I</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M</td>
<td>17 Jan</td>
<td>NO CLASS: Martin Luther King, Jr., Birthday</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W</td>
<td>19 Jan</td>
<td>First drafts Paper #1 &quot;peer editing”; Debate Causes of World War I</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M</td>
<td>24 Jan</td>
<td>Final drafts Paper #1 due; Economic Issues of WWI</td>
<td>3A-3D</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W</td>
<td>26 Jan</td>
<td>Economic Issues (Discussion #2)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M</td>
<td>31 Jan</td>
<td>Treaty of Versailles and its Aftermath</td>
<td>4A-4B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W</td>
<td>02 Feb</td>
<td>Major events of the interwar period</td>
<td>4C-4D</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M</td>
<td>07 Feb</td>
<td>First drafts Paper #2 “peer editing”; More on major events of the interwar period</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W</td>
<td>09 Feb</td>
<td>Final drafts Paper #2 due; What Happened in WWII</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M</td>
<td>14 Feb</td>
<td>What Happened in WWII (Disc #2)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W</td>
<td>16 Feb</td>
<td>Strategic Choices in WWII</td>
<td>5A-5C</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M</td>
<td>21 Feb</td>
<td>Strategic Choices in WWII (Disc #2)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W</td>
<td>23 Feb</td>
<td>First drafts Paper #3 “peer editing”; Economic Issues of WWII</td>
<td>6A-6E</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M</td>
<td>28 Feb</td>
<td>Final drafts Paper #3 due; Economic Issues of WWII (Disc #2)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W</td>
<td>02 Mar</td>
<td>Discussion of Paper #4 topics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M</td>
<td>07 Mar</td>
<td>Last Class: Watch WWII Videos</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F</td>
<td>20 Mar</td>
<td>Paper #4 due, no extensions</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>