Fall 2026

The Kellogg School of Management Global Poverty Research lab (GPRL) is seeking an RA to work on the Philippines Socioeconomic Panel Survey (PSPS), supporting policy-facing work including but not limited to research reports and dissemination efforts. The RAship will present a chance to help translate rigorous development research into resources for policymakers and practitioners. The RA should be able to commit to at least 10 hours per week beginning around October, should be strongly interested in international development and evidence-informed policymaking. Experience with Overleaf, Stata, and/or R is preferred.

- Please email materials to the Global Poverty Research Lab office at poverty-research@northwestern.edu with subject heading "PSPS Undergrad RA Application".
